BOSTON, Aug. 8 — (P) — What this country needs is a feminine Paul Revere.

So says Suzanne Stevenson, founder and national president of the Minute Women of the USA, who is touring the country, adjuring her countrywomen to get out and vote. Says she:

"It's frightening to note that since women got the vote, the number of women voters has decreased steadily each year since 1920.

"There are two million more women than men qualified to vote in this country. If every one of them would get out and vote this fall, just look what we could do."

Mrs. Stevenson has no delusions about electing a woman president or vice president — doesn't think it would be a good idea at this time, even if it were possible.

Her organization, which now numbers 50,000 members in all 48 states, is pledged simply to get out the women's vote.

Their principles are to uphold the Constitution of the United States, and each member takes the following pledge:

"I pledge in honor to vote in every election for the best interests of my country."

In addition the women uphold such things as economy in government, fair taxes, free enterprise and patriotic teaching in the schools.

Mrs. Stevenson started the organization with a small meeting of her Connecticut neighbors in the fall of 1949. She says:

"All of us were conscious of the same feeling of uncertainty and fear among women all over the country, so we got together to talk things over and see what we could do. The decision was that the only way any citizen could hope to have a voice in running his country was to get out and vote. If you won't take the trouble to vote, you have no kick coming."

Having attended both the Republican and Democratic conventions, Mrs. Stevenson came home with the firm conviction that the voice of women is going to be heard more strongly in this year's presidential elections than ever before.

Tragedy Averted When Bus Dives Into Creek Near Here

22 Passengers Escape Injury On Route 104

Driver Says Heavy Fog, Loose Gravel Led To Crackup

An express Greyhound bus roaring north through an early morning fog with 22 passengers Friday left the highway a short distance north of Circleville and plunged into a shallow creek.

None of the passengers reported injuries serious enough for first aid.

Driver Emory Higgenbotham of Charleston, W. Va., said he was driving less than 30 miles an hour at the time of the accident, a fact that probably averted a major tragedy.

Deputy Sheriff Jim Diltz who investigated the near disaster quoted Higgenbotham as saying he couldn't see the highway clearly because of the swirling fog. The accident occurred at about 5:50 a. m. on Route 104 seven miles north of here.

THE DRIVER told Diltz the bus suddenly swerved off the highway after striking a stretch of loose gravel near the Ted Koch farm.

Hurling off the road, and down a steep embankment, the big vehicle plunged into a foot-deep creek and gouged deeply into the creek bed. The bus, which remained upright, was badly damaged.

Greyhound officials dispatched another bus from Columbus to pick up the passengers, most of whom boarded their bus at Charleston. None of the passengers was listed as being from the local district.

"I couldn't see where I was going and I did the best I could," Diltz quoted Higgenbotham as saying. The driver told the deputy there was no panic in the bus at the time, but that he "had a time of it for awhile with all those women screaming down my back."

It was reported one woman was thrown from the rear to the front of the bus interior by the impact. Passengers included men, women and children.

A report on the accident said the bus was running late because of the heavy fog that was especially dense at the scene, a low spot on the Charleston-Columbus route.

Diltz reported it took nearly three hours to have the wrecked vehicle pulled back on the highway.

The accident occurred close to the same spot where a semi-tractor trailer left the road Wednesday morning.

Heroic Action Aboard Boxer Told By Navy

TOKYO, Aug. 8 — (P) — U. S. Far East naval headquarters Friday described how heroic crewmen saved the aircraft carrier Boxer from flaming explosions which killed nine shipmates.

Minutes after flames broke out below decks at dawn Wednesday, crewmen braved smoke and inferno-like heat to unload bombs and ammunition from planes readied for strikes against the Communists in North Korea.

Other seamen donned oxygen masks and rescued comrades trapped by smoke and flames. Their skipper called it an "inspiring performance."

The Navy here said the fire and explosions injured 32.

The explosions occurred while the Boxer was 90 miles east of Wonsan, Korean east coast port.

The nine dead included a Navy doctor and two hospitalmen who braved flames to care for wounded shipmates. An exploding shell got them. One man was lost overboard. Helicopters and small boats rescued 62 others who were forced into the sea by the fire.

The ship was expected to arrive at the U. S. naval base at Yokosuka, Japan, Saturday. The carrier Bon Homme Richard was ordered to take the Boxer's place off Korea.

ELEVEN FRENCH SEAMEN are dead or missing and six others injured after a World War II torpedo explodes and sinks the 1,289-ton Pas de Calais II in the port of Boulogne, France. Pulling up debris from the floor of the harbor, the dredger suddenly raised a torpedo which exploded on the deck before it could be dismantled. One of the victims is taken from the water into a lifeboat.

Ohio Packers Shun Handling Of Hogs With Newest Disease

COLUMBUS, Aug. 8 — (P) — Ohio's slaughterhouses refuse to kill any hogs quarantined because of the new swine disease, vesicular exanthema.

Dr. Harry G. Geyer, state veterinarian, says he cannot find any packer interested in the questionable pork.

Vesicular exanthema is a virus disease affecting only hogs. It is characterized by a fever, lameness and the formation of vesicles (blisters) on the snout, lips, tongue and gums, or on the feet of the animals.

Vesicular exanthema does not affect humans and the meat from infected animals can be eaten if it is properly cooked.

Geyer said slaughterhouses are reluctant to take diseased animals because of the extensive care that must be taken in processing them. Perhaps a major reason why packers are cold toward handling the questionable pork is knowledge of Ohio consumer attitude.

ON TWO RECENT occasions, meat markets have been "stuck" with meat the majority of consumers refused to buy. When the Findlay horsemeat scandal broke, many a piece of beef aged on and on in butcher shops.

And more recently, pork cuts were shunned by buyers when Ohio was battling anthrax, another swine disease which struck deep into Buckeye herds.

Two Ohio farms—in Franklin and Lorain Counties—with more than 1,000 hogs, are under quarantine for vesicular exanthema.

Hogs on the Lorain County farm have tested positive for the disease, Geyer said, while those on the Franklin County farm came from a New Jersey area where the disease was prevalent.

Ohio clamped a ban on the shipment of hogs into the state unless they go direct to federal or state approved slaughterhouses or meet other specified conditions.

Geyer said the quarantined Ohio herds represent an investment estimated conservatively at $40,000.

Special Meeting Of Council Tonight

Circleville city council will meet Friday night in a special session called by Mayor Ed Amey.

The meeting, to be held in council's chambers in city hall at 8 p. m., was called to resume consideration of an ordinance which would submit the proposed city charter to the voters at the regular election this fall.

Council has already heard first reading on the ordinance.

He said he is investigating whether owners of the herds can be reimbursed if the animals are destroyed.

The chief of the Division of Animal Industry said he is reluctant to order destruction of the two quarantined herds until legal details pertaining to compensation for the animals' owners are worked out. He said the Ohio attorney general's office is working on this problem.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has announced a program whereby owners would be paid for the loss of hogs which were destroyed. The federal government would bear half the cost and the states half.

The indemnities to be paid the owners would be based on the difference between what they receive from the packing establishments and the appraised value of the hogs.

14 California Commies Given Peak Penalty

5 Years In Prison, $10,000 Fine Handed Out By U.S. Judge

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 8 — (P) — California's 14 leading Communists—including a self-styled founding member of the party in Russia—are under maximum sentence of five years in prison and $10,000 fine each for conspiracy against the United States.

The heaviest judgment possible under the Smith Act of 1940 was levied Thursday by Federal Judge William C. Mathes after he upheld the jury's guilty verdict.

The defendants, including Russian-born Frank Spector, took their sentences without flinching. All made strong, and some defiant, statements maintaining innocence. All 14 filed immediate notice of intention to appeal the case to the U. S. Circuit Court.

The convicted Communists—found guilty after six months trial of conspiring to teach and advocate overthrow of the government by force—all professed pride in the Communist Party.

"I AM A FOUNDING member of the Communist Party," Spector, 57, said. He dated his party entry September, 1919. He has been in the U. S. about 25 years and was Los Angeles County industrial organizer for the party when indicted last December. Spector faces alien deportation proceedings.

GOP Maps Fight, Dems Pledge 'No Smear'

Ike Studies Foreign Policy; Stevenson Views State Fair

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 — (P) — The two presidential candidates, Republican Dwight Eisenhower and Democrat Adlai Stevenson, continued making final preparations Friday for the start of their campaigns.

In Denver, Eisenhower, Vice-nominee Richard Nixon and John Foster Dulles got together to organize an attack against the Democratic foreign policy.

And in Springfield, Ill., the Democratic candidate, Stevenson, tied together a few loose strings and headed for a visit to the Illinois State Fair.

The Denver conference was bringing Nixon in from the West Coast and Dulles from the East for the first intensive study of foreign policy aspects of the campaign since the GOP standard bearers were chosen.

Out of the session is likely to come a decision on the extent, to which Eisenhower will strike out against the Truman administration in that field.

AS EUROPEAN defense commander until last June 1, he had a hand in development of the North Atlantic collective security program sponsored by the administration.

The general has endorsed the aims of that program, but Dulles reported him in complete accord with the GOP platform's sharp criticism of many phases of the Democrats' handling of international affairs.

In the plank the Republicans charge, for example, that "the leaders of the administration in power lost the peace so dearly earned by World War II."

And the platform preamble says the administration "plunged us into war in Korea without the consent of our citizens through their authorized representatives in the Congress, and have carried on that war without will to victory."

Eisenhower has yet to say publicly whether he supports President Truman's decision which sent U. S. troops into Korea without prior approval by Congress.

The general has indicated, however, that he is ready to let fly at administration policy toward the Far East. In that field, the GOP platform gives him much ammunition.

Stevenson is reported ready today to kick off his presidential campaign with a Labor Day speech in Detroit followed by a swing into the South to hold the Dixie vote in line for the Democratic ticket.

MEANWHILE, Stevenson put aside his work temporarily to attend ceremonies formally opening the annual Illinois State Fair.

The fair grounds itself will become somewhat of a political battleground next week when speeches will be made by Stevenson, Vice President Alben Barkley and the GOP vice presidential candidate, Nixon, scheduled to speak on Wednesday and Stevenson and Barkley on Thursday.

Meanwhile, a "no smear" campaign in behalf of Stevenson has been promised by Sen. A. S. (Mike) Monroney of Oklahoma.

Monroney, named by Stevenson to head the party's speakers' bureau, declared:

"We intend to present our case for Stevenson, and other Democratic candidates, clearly, concisely and honestly, without demagoguery or smear and without personal attack. We think we have a case and if we can reach the people with it, we'll make victory certain in November."

Monroney said he thinks the Democrats ought to "bear down" on states where he said Eisenhower has "albatross senators hanging around his neck."

He listed Wisconsin, with Sen. Joseph McCarthy; Indiana, with Sen. William Jenner; Ohio, with Sen. John Bricker, and Missouri, with Sen. James P. Kenn. In these states, he said, GOP senators running for reelection fail to share Eisenhower's major policy views.

Utah Flier Tagged As America's 18th Jet Ace Of War

SEOUL, Aug. 8 — (P) — The U. S. Fifth Air Force said American pilots shot down three Communist Migs Friday in the fifth straight day of furious jet battles over North Korea.

America's 18th jet ace was crowned in the action, which brought the five-day Allied toll of Russian-built jets to 18 destroyed and 19 damaged.

Capt. Clifford D. Jolley of Salt Lake City, Utah, shot down his fifth Mig to qualify as an ace.

That made three kills in two days for the 31-year-old Sabrejet pilot. Friday the Air Force confirmed a Mig he shot down July 4.

As a result, the spectacular Fourth of July aerial battle near the Yalu River became the biggest day of the war for U. S. airmen—13 Migs shot down, one probably destroyed and five damaged.

The old record of 13 shot down, two probably destroyed, and one damaged was set last Dec. 13.

THE AERIAL battles erupted when Communist jets zoomed out of Manchuria in an attempt to disrupt a powerful Allied bombing of a North Korean officers candidate school. The fast Sabres warded off the Migs from UN fighter bombers. The Air Force said claims of another probably destroyed Communist jet and several damaged may be confirmed later.

UN warplanes also gave powerful frontline support to ground troops who Thursday withstood the hottest day of the year—a searing 108 degrees on the western front.

On the central front, Allied planes attacked Chinese troops who Thursday night tried in vain to recapture the rugged knob called Capitol Hill from South Korean infantrymen.

The Eighth Army estimated Chinese losses at 527 killed and 300 wounded in the battle for the hill.

Chinese and North Korean artillery and mortar guns boomed loudly across the entire front, but little action was reported from the western and eastern sectors.

At New Holland, Irvin will coach basketball, baseball and track, and teach biological science and history classes. He played baseball and football in high school and college.

Stevenson's Hiss Defense Rapped

BALTIMORE, Aug. 8 — (P) — Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin Thursday attacked the Democratic candidate for "defending" Alger Hiss and called upon Republicans to make the matter a campaign issue.

In 1949 Adlai Stevenson was called upon to testify as to the character of Alger Hiss. He signed a deposition stating that as far as he knew the former State Department official had a good reputation. Hiss is serving a prison term for perjury in denying that he gave any government information to a Communist courier.

Farmer, 80, Killed

More Justice Aides To Quit And Be Fired

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8 — (P) — A new round of top-level resignations in the Justice Department appear in prospect and the ax is expected to fall soon on some U. S. district attorneys outside Washington.

At the same time, a relatively unknown attorney—Ross L. Malone of Roswell, N. M.—was slated to take over the department's No. 2 spot succeeding A. Devitt Vanech as deputy attorney general.

Vanech resigned Monday to seek the Democratic nomination for the unexpired term of the late Sen. Brien McMahon of Connecticut.

Impending new changes in the department were forecast by informed sources as amounting to a virtual clean sweep of officials left over from the regime of Atty. Gen. J. Howard McGrath, and before him, Tom Clark.

The departure of Vanech left the eighth major vacancy in the department's top echelon—starting last April 4 with the firing of McGrath at the height of President Truman's government "house cleaning" campaign.

While little known in official Washington, the 42-year-old Malone has a record as an able oil and gas attorney in the Southwest.

His appointment probably will be followed by the firing of "at least two" district attorneys—not identified.

300,000 Men Said Set For Attack Order

Observers Believe Kremlin Holds Key To Further Strife

ATHENS, Greece, Aug. 8 — (P) — The spearheads of nearly 300,000 well-armed troops face each other across the tense Greek-Bulgarian border, where a skirmish was fought Thursday for an outpost.

Greek and Bulgarian soldiers have been mobilized along the border for years. Both sides are ready to fight. The United Nations has labeled the situation as "very dangerous."

The skirmish was over tiny Gamma Island in the Evros River which forms the border. The Greeks, who claim the island, said Bulgarians had invaded it, and opened a mortar attack to drive them back.

Any clash between these hostile neighbors could have serious potentialities. They form one part of an uneasy line stretching from the Mediterranean to the North Sea. Behind them are the massed forces of the West and East.

MOST AMERICAN officials in Europe believe that a border incident would mushroom into major conflict only when the Kremlin decides on a bigger gamble than it has taken so far.

Nevertheless, the incident highlights the status of the explosive Balkans where the first shots of World War I were fired almost 40 years ago.

Greece, one of the newest members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, is one of Russia's veteran opponents in the global hot-cold war.

The Greeks fought and won a bloody campaign against Communist expansion.

The United States since 1947 has supplied arms and training to build a modern Greek army.

High ranking Greek officers told reporters the Bulgarians are good fighters and are among the best of Russia's satellite troops.

The Kremlin reportedly has been intensifying its effort in recent months to modernize and strengthen its satellite forces, including Bulgaria, and to supply them with jet aircraft.

BULGARIA is one main invasion route from Central Europe for any thrust toward the vital Mediterranean, believed to be a prime Soviet target. For this reason Greece and Turkey form the southern anchor of Allied defenses in Europe.

Even if Russia has no intention of risking major warfare now in this vital region, the long and tense Balkan borders provide another opportunity to heighten pressure in the cold war.

Rhee Doubtful Of Peace Chances

SEOUL, Aug. 8 — (P) — Syngman Rhee, still the shrewd political mastermind of the republic he helped found four years ago, sees no hope of peace for war-torn Korea in his coming second four-year term as president.

Peace will come, he declared Friday, only when Russia is "fully convinced it cannot defeat the free nations."

Rhee swept to an overwhelming victory over three opponents Tuesday in South Korea's first direct presidential election. He was elected by the National Assembly to his first term.

While little known in official Washington, the 42-year-old Malone has a record as an able oil and gas attorney in the Southwest.

His appointment probably will be followed by the firing of "at least two" district attorneys—not identified.

Utah Flier Tagged As America's 18th Jet Ace Of War

SEATTLE, Aug. 8.—(P)—The U. S. Fifth Air Force said American pilots shot down three Communist Migs Friday in the fifth straight day of furious jet battles over North Korea.

America's 18th jet ace was crowned in the action, which brought the five-day Allied toll of Russian-built jets to 18 destroyed and 19 damaged.

Capt. Clifford D. Jolley of Salt Lake City, Utah, shot down his fifth Mig to qualify as an ace.

That made three kills in two days for the 31-year-old Sabrejet pilot. Friday the Air Force confirmed a Mig he shot down July 4.

As a result, the spectacular Fourth of July aerial battle near the Yalu River became the biggest day of the war for U. S. airmen—13 Migs shot down, one probably destroyed and five damaged.

The old record of 13 shot down, two probably destroyed, and one damaged was set last Dec. 13.

THE AERIAL battles erupted when Communist jets zoomed out of Manchuria in an attempt to disrupt a powerful Allied bombing of a North Korean officers candidate school. The fast Sabres warded off the Migs from UN fighter bombers. The Air Force said claims of another probably destroyed Communist jet and several damaged may be confirmed later.

UN warplanes also gave powerful frontline support to ground troops who Thursday withstood the hottest day of the year—a searing 108 degrees on the western front.

On the central front, Allied planes attacked Chinese troops who Thursday night tried in vain to recapture the rugged knob called Capitol Hill from South Korean infantrymen.

The Eighth Army estimated Chinese losses at 527 killed and 300 wounded in the battle for the hill. Chinese and North Korean artillery and mortar guns boomed loudly across the entire front, but little action was reported from the western and eastern sectors.

Farmer, 80, Killed

CHARDON, Aug. 8.—(P)—Paul A. Szesznak, 80-year-old farmer, was found dead Thursday night in front of his plow. It is believed the plow struck an obstacle and he was toppled over it onto the ground.

Stevenson's Hiss Defense Rapped

BALTIMORE, Aug. 8.—(P)—Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin Thursday attacked the Democratic candidate for "defending" Alger Hiss and called upon Republicans to make the matter a campaign issue.

In 1949 Adlai Stevenson was called upon to testify as to the character of Alger Hiss. He signed a deposition stating that as far as he knew the former State Department official had a good reputation. Hiss is serving a prison term for perjury in denying that he gave any government information to a Communist courier.

300,000 Men Said Set For Attack Order

Observers Believe Kremlin Holds Key To Further Strife

ATHENS, Greece, Aug. 8.—(P)—The spearheads of nearly 300,000 well-armed troops face each other across the tense Greek-Bulgarian border, where a skirmish was fought Thursday for an outpost.

Greek and Bulgarian soldiers have been mobilized along the border for years. Both sides are ready to fight. The United Nations has labeled the situation as "very dangerous."

The skirmish was over tiny Gamma Island in the Evros River which forms the border. The Greeks, who claim the island, said Bulgarians had invaded it, and opened a mortar attack to drive them back.

Any clash between these hostile neighbors could have serious potentialities. They form one part of an uneasy line stretching from the Mediterranean to the North Sea. Behind them are the massed forces of the West and East.

MOST AMERICAN officials in Europe believe that a border incident would mushroom into major conflict only when the Kremlin decides on a bigger gamble than it has taken so far.

Nevertheless, the incident highlights the status of the explosive Balkans where the first shots of World War I were fired almost 40 years ago.

Greece, one of the newest members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, is one of Russia's veteran opponents in the global hot-cold war.

The Greeks fought and won a bloody campaign against Communist expansion.

The United States since 1947 has supplied arms and training to build a modern Greek army.

High ranking Greek officers told reporters the Bulgarians are good fighters and are among the best of Russia's satellite troops.

The Kremlin reportedly has been intensifying its effort in recent months to modernize and strengthen its satellite forces, including Bulgaria, and to supply them with jet aircraft.

BULGARIA IS one main invasion route from Central Europe for any thrust toward the vital Mediterranean, believed to be a prime Soviet target. For this reason Greece and Turkey form the southern anchor of Allied defenses in Europe.

Even if Russia has no intention of risking major warfare now in this vital region, the long and tense Balkan borders provide another opportunity to heighten pressure in the cold war.

Rhee Doubtful Of Peace Chances

SEOUL, Aug. 8.—(P)—Syngman Rhee, still the shrewd political mastermind of the republic he helped found four years ago, sees no hope of peace for war-torn Korea in his coming second four-year term as president.

Peace will come, he declared Friday, only when Russia is "fully convinced it cannot defeat the free nations."

Rhee swept to an overwhelming victory over three opponents Tuesday in South Korea's first direct presidential election. He was elected by the National Assembly to his first term.

Sen. McKellar Loses In Bid For Reelection

NASHVILLE, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Albert Gore, handsome young Tennessee congressman, has written him to the long senatorial career of Kenneth D. McKellar, 83-year-old dean of the U. S. Senate, in nearly complete return from Democratic primary.

In another outing of the "ins," 32-year-old Frank G. Clement ended Gordon Browning's four-year reign as governor. Browning was seeking a third two-year term.

Memphis political leader "Boss" Crump, on the comeback trail after his gubernatorial and senatorial candidacies were defeated four years ago by Browning and Sen. Estes Kefauver, supported McKellar and Clement.

Crump, always a McKellar stalwart, could not stem the tide against the aging senator. Just what his support of Clement meant was a matter of conjecture.

McKellar, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, has been a powerful figure on the Washington political scene for more than a quarter century.

Gore, although still in his early 40s, is a veteran of seven terms in the House. He campaigned on a plea for the voters to "send a young man to the Senate."

Parts Of State Needing Rain To Save Crops

COLUMBUS, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Although dry weather has not damaged seriously any general area in Ohio, it is damaging corn, pastures and meadow seedlings in portions of the state, an Ohio State University agronomist reports.

E. P. Reed, agronomist for the western half of Ohio, said the northwestern quarter of the state is worse off than any other sections. In portions of Hancock, Hardin, Wood, Fulton, Henry, Lucas, Paulding and Allen counties, there has been little or no rain for 60 days.

In Van Wert and Auglaize Counties, he said, corn and pastures are not showing bad effects and there should be average crops there. Central and Southwestern Ohio, although dry now, had enough rain earlier.

And here is the Ohio five-day extended weather forecast:

Temperatures will average near normal with a cool period Sunday and Monday. Normal maximum 83 north to 87 south, normal minimum 63 to 65. Showers or thunderstorms Saturday ending Sunday and showers again Tuesday. Total precipitation will average around one-half inch.

Drought Said Broken; U.S. Aid Readied

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—(AP)—The $1 billion drought in New England and the South appeared broken Friday as government agencies moved swiftly to get weather-harassed farmers back into production.

The immediate goals:
1. To get feed to hungry livestock on burned out pastures and prevent premature slaughtering.
2. To get fall planting started.

The Agriculture Department ordered a survey of excess hay supplies in the Midwest. It directed chairmen of state agricultural mobilization committees from Iowa, Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana, and Illinois to look into the possibility of obtaining hay in those states.

And the Farmers Home Administration worked out a plan to speed government loans to hard-pressed farmers in the drought belts. These loans will be used for seed and feed.

Farmers looked hopefully to possibly good fall crops to help them recoup some of their losses.

With New England getting rain for the third straight day, Louis A. Webster, Massachusetts market specialist, said:

"There is every indication now that we will have good fall crops."

Officials Find Cache Of Mail

DETROIT, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Thousands of east side Detroit residents Friday began receiving letters four and five years old as postal inspectors sifted through a basement-filling pile of undelivered and stolen mail.

Leading Dems, GOP Very Cool On Recall Idea

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Two leading Democrats have given a cold reception to President Truman's suggestion he might call a special session of Congress to act on new inflation controls.

Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney of Wyoming, chairman of the Senate House Economic Committee, says he thinks such action at this time would be futile.

Sen. A. S. (Mike) Monroney of Oklahoma says he believes the government ought to watch the cost of living "like a hawk" but he indicated he doesn't think lawmakers are in the frame of mind now to return to Washington and act on a new controls law.

Republicans generally were inclined to look upon Truman's statement that he has a special session call under consideration as something of a political harassment move directed at them.

Republicans have made it clear they would use the forum of a special session to launch all-out attacks on the President and the Democratic nominee.

And because it is in numbers a Democratic Congress, Truman hardly could blame the lawmakers for failing to act effectively to curb the rising cost of living without putting that blame primarily on his own party rather than on the minority Republicans.

Beggar Couple Makes $60 Day

CLEVELAND, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Police arrested a couple here Friday they said make $60 a day by begging during the summer and retire to their home in Richmond, Ind., in the winter.

Sen. McKellar Loses In Bid For Reelection

NASHVILLE, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Albert Gore, handsome young Tennessee congressman, has written finis to the long senatorial career of Kenneth D. McKellar, 83-year-old dean of the U. S. Senate, in nearly complete returns from Democratic primary.

In another ousting of the "ins," 32-year-old Frank G. Clement ended Gordon Browning's four-year reign as governor. Browning was seeking a third two-year term.

Memphis political leader "Boss" Crump, on the comeback trail after his gubernatorial and senatorial candidacies were defeated four years ago by Browning and Sen. Estes Kefauver, supported McKellar and Clement.

Crump, always a McKellar stalwart, could not stem the tide against the aging senator. Just what his support of Clement meant was a matter of conjecture.

McKellar, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, has been a powerful figure on the Washington political scene for more than a quarter century.

Gore, although still in his early 40s, is a veteran of seven terms in the House. He campaigned on a plea for the voters to "send a young man to the Senate."

"Take my slips but don't take my Bible," Blair pleaded.

Blair was held in $2,500 bail on gambling charges.

Parts Of State Needing Rain To Save Crops

COLUMBUS, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Although dry weather has not damaged seriously any general area in Ohio, it is damaging corn, pastures and meadow seedlings in portions of the state, an Ohio State University agronomist reports.

E. P. Reed, agronomist for the western half of Ohio, said the northwestern quarter of the state is worse off than any other sections. In portions of Hancock, Hardin, Wood, Fulton, Henry, Lucas, Paulding and Allen Counties, there has been little or no rain for 60 days.

In Van Wert and Auglaize Counties, he said, corn and pastures are not showing bad effects and there should be average crops there. Central and Southwestern Ohio, although dry now, had enough rain earlier.

And here is the Ohio five-day extended weather forecast:

Temperatures will average near normal with a cool period Sunday and Monday. Normal maximum 83 north to 87 south, normal minimum 63 to 65. Showers or thunderstorms Saturday ending Sunday and showers again Tuesday. Total precipitation will average around one-half inch.

Officials Find Cache Of Mail

DETROIT, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Thousands of east side Detroit residents Friday began receiving letters four and five years old as postal inspectors sifted through a basement-filling pile of undelivered and stolen mail.

The letters, estimated at more than 10,000, plus tons of packages containing every form of mailable merchandise, were recovered in the house of Roman Kortes, a 50-year-old veteran mailman, who pleaded guilty in federal court here to charges of embezzlement.

Pottery Workers Return To Jobs

Drought Said Broken; U.S. Aid Readied

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—(AP)—The $1 billion drought in New England and the South appeared broken Friday as government agencies moved swiftly to get weather-harassed farmers back into production.

The immediate goals:

1. To get feed to hungry livestock on burned out pastures and prevent premature slaughtering.

2. To get fall planting started.

The Agriculture Department ordered a survey of excess hay supplies in the Midwest. It directed chairmen of state agricultural mobilization committees from Iowa, Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana, and Illinois to look into the possibility of obtaining hay in those states.

And the Farmers Home Administration worked out a plan to speed government loans to hard-pressed farmers in the drought belts. These loans will be used for seed and feed.

Farmers looked hopefully to possibly good fall crops to help them recoup some of their losses.

With New England getting rain for the third straight day, Louis A. Webster, Massachusetts market specialist, said:

"There is every indication now that we will have good fall crops."

Koch Again Chief At Tomato School

The annual training is for the instruction of tomato inspectors who serve as a link between farmers and the canneries.

Leading Dems, GOP Very Cool On Recall Idea

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Two leading Democrats have given a cold reception to President Truman's suggestion he might call a special session of Congress to act on new inflation controls.

Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney of Wyoming, chairman of the Senate House Economic Committee, says he thinks such action at this time would be futile.

Sen. A. S. (Mike) Monroney of Oklahoma says he believes the government ought to watch the cost of living "like a hawk" but he indicated he doesn't think lawmakers are in the frame of mind now to return to Washington and act on a new controls law.

Republicans generally were inclined to look upon Truman's statement that he has a special session call under consideration as something of a political harassment move directed at them.

Republicans have made it clear they would use the forum of a special session to launch all-out attacks on the President and the Democratic nominee.

And because it is in numbers a Democratic Congress, Truman hardly could blame the lawmakers for failing to act effectively to curb the rising cost of living without putting that blame primarily on his own party rather than on the minority Republicans.

ABOVE WASHINGTON

ALERT SKEPTICISM best describes the attitude of Pentagon Air Force authorities toward glowing objects that streaked across the skies above Washington on two successive weekends. Jet planes sent aloft to intercept them were unable to make contact.

Yet the Civil Aeronautics Administration's traffic-control center picked up objects on its radar screen. Whether these were material objects or images of ionized clouds or some other immaterial effect Air Force authorities are unable to state. The Air Force doesn't know, but it is investigating.

Both Air Force and commercial aircraft personnel saw unidentifiable lights above the national capital on two occasions. Whether these were stars, meteors, clouds or "saucers" is not evident. The Pentagon has been skeptical of the "saucer" thesis, which rests upon the assumption that these objects are either visitants from another planet or some diabolical demonstration of scientific cleverness on the part of the Soviet Union.

The fact remains that none knows the answer. If the objects are immaterial, such as some effect of light, perhaps no answer will be forthcoming. But if there are real "saucers" in the skies over Washington, and elsewhere throughout the land, the possibilities are staggering.

One thing is certain: something is being seen in the skies. Allowance must be made for the state of mind of the beholders, who are inhabitants of a planet that has survived two wars and, because of the existence of atomic weapons and otherwise, is doubtful about its chance of survival if there is a third war. Perhaps the suspicion and tension in which men dwell upon this earth is being translated to the skies.

A DEFERRED THREAT

AMERICA MAY be edging into compulsory membership in a union before a citizen can hold a job but there is a lot of resistance from those who haven't forgotten why America broke away from the Old World and established a free country.

The steel settlement is a compromise, with the union leaders still in position to win their demands after other disputes.

Industry heads, pictured often as plutocrats with silk hats and dollar signs on their vests, are nevertheless fighting the battle of American freedom in its original conception.

These Days

So-called liberals reject the right of our government to defend itself against those who oppose its existence, except against armed force. A government is not a mechanical instrument that is brought into existence to serve some necessary social and political functions. It is not a mere expression of majority rule.

Pope Pius XII once put it this way: "The people lives and moves by its own life energy; the masses are inert of themselves and can only be moved from outside. The people lives by the fullness of life in the men that compose it, each of whom—in his proper place and in his own way—is a person conscious of his own responsibility and of his own views."

"The masses, on the contrary, waiting for the impulse from outside, become an easy plaything in the hands of anyone who seeks to exploit their instincts and impressions."

A government represents the traditions, the ideals, the hopes, the aspirations of a people. A proud people seeks to defend itself against every force, every power that aims to destroy it. A proud people never dies. Such small nations as the Jews, the Armenians, the Syrians, the Kashmiri, the Finns do not die, because they have a tradition of life.

All the forces in our land that seek to destroy the character of our nation and our government, that would submerge us into a mass of nations indistinguishable from all others, need to be resisted. In a series of investigations by the House Committee on Un-American Activities, the McCarran Committee, by grand juries, in trials such as that of Alger Hiss and Harry Bridges, we have begun to discover a design for the perversion of our country not by an outside enemy but by our own children, misguided, misled, frightened by the era of war in which they live.

Another investigative agency has been probing deeply into this problem. It is the "Subversive Activities Control Board," an agency of the executive branch of the government. This agency has been investigating the Communist Party itself and in the course of its inquiry questions were asked of John Gates, a high official of the Communist Party, now imprisoned. The colloquy which follows is of more than casual interest:

"Q. Suppose you Communists were successful and established your system in this country, what measures would you take against those who would destroy your government by force and violence?"

"Marcantonio: I object. Pretty soon he will be asking him the difference between two blades of grass—"

"Chairman Brown: Objection overruled. "Gates: That can only be established by a majority. The Communist Party would be part of that majority and in the leadership, I hope. Such a government would have every right to defend itself against any attempt to destroy it by force and violence."

Gates is quite correct. If his party came into power, it would naturally defend itself from any attempt to destroy it by force and violence. That is precisely what all the in-

Radioactive Iodine Promises To Help Some Heart Patients

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

LATELY we have been hearing a great deal about radioactive iodine. This is a product of atomic research, and it may prove the helping hand that will enable certain heart patients to adjust to a slower pace of living.

Most people know by now that the person with signs of heart failure must decrease his daily activity according to the severity of his heart condition. He may have to limit his activity to bed rest, or just bathroom privileges. Many people with severe heart conditions are forbidden to do any strenuous exercise or work for the rest of their lives. Others improve as time goes on. In this connection it is well to remember that a chain is no stronger than its weakest link. Therefore, not too much strain should be put on any part of the body.

Some Find It Difficult

There are certain patients, however, who should limit their activity, but may find it difficult to do this. For instance, a "go-getting" business man may have been so keyed up all his life that cutting off all his enterprises at once may be a severe hardship and quite difficult to do.

These people usually upset themselves, both mentally and physically, causing recurrence of severe heart failure. This may bring on a condition known as pulmonary edema, in which fluid collects in the lungs and causes difficult breathing. Usually, the liver also becomes enlarged and the ankles swollen, and a large amount of fluid accumulates in the abdomen.

Doctors find that the treatments that help most heart patients get along with their condition usually include, in addition to reasonable rest, injections of mercury into the muscles, plus the use of sedatives and a diet with little salt.

Faced With Problem

However, in treating those who have trouble cutting down their activity, the doctor is faced with the problem of slowing down their body functions so they can tolerate a new way of life. It has now been found that radioactive iodine, which has been a boon in thyroid disorders promises to help heart patients as well.

Small doses of the specially prepared iodine were given to about 100 patients with severe heart disease, none of whom had been relieved by any other form of treatment. All these patients had normal thyroid function.

The radioactive iodine succeeded in slowing down their metabolic activity. After 15 months of study by researchers, it was found that over half these patients were well benefited, and the results were fair in more than a quarter.

It will be interesting to see whether radioactive iodine maintains these good results in cases of severe heart failure.

SYNOPSIS
Returning with his buddy Hal King to his home town in California, Blaise Randall finds his land confiscated. His old sweetheart, Melanie, wed to another. He'd spent the years in prison, framed on a murder charge. He means to clear his name. Neighbors now peacefully settled as farmers, a few range wars, as Randall stalks his old enemy and accuser, Leonis. Melanie still in love with Blaise, begs him to go away, to begin life anew, elsewhere, but he remains adamant.

CHAPTER EIGHT

IT WAS still dark. Blaise tightened the cinch of the saddle. Lamplight lengthened Hal's legs and put Paul's sober face in a weird half light.

Paul spoke. "Dawn before long, and a clear day. Wait'll take you to Simi and bring the horses back."

"Let me ride on with 'em, Dad," Walt asked. Blaise cut in before Paul could reply.

"Not this trip, son. Later, when there's more important work to do, we'll call for you."

Paul looked thoughtfully at Blaise. "Only chance of trouble is beyond the pass," he said, "between there and your ranch."

Blaise made an impatient sound. "I'm against this. It's like running from Leonis."

"This ain't running," Paul shook his head. "No use riding direct through Calabasas when you know Leonis will have his boys looking for you. This way, you'll be on your own land before Leonis can do anything about it."

"He's right, Blaise," Hal said. "All right. Let's ride." He swung up into the saddle and then leaned down, holding out his hand. "Thanks to you, Paul, for putting us up."

"No bother at all. Glad to have you. Come around when you can."

"Not for a while," Paul looked steadily up at him. "Melanie. You'll get over it."

Blaise straightened. He nodded to Paul and touched his heels to the horse. The three men rode out of the yard. Their way joined the main east-west road at a small village that was no more than a store, a livery stable and a scattering of houses.

Blaise made inquiries and the three rode half a mile to the north. Blaise and Hal spent the next hour dickering for two saddle horses, plain saddles and bridles.

Wait watched glumly as Blaise adjusted blanket and saddle on his new bay gelding. The animal was powerful and would absorb a great deal of work. Hal's was a gray, almost the size of Blaise's.

Wait lifted the reins, saluted and slowly turned his horse. He rode away, leading the two extra mounts.

"He'll make a man," Hal said quietly. Blaise nodded.

"If there'd been more like him ten years back, things might've been different."

Hal spoke softly. "I have an idea there was. But somebody changed 'em."

Blaise looked at him. "When did you learn to read my mind?"

"From picking over my own," Hal laughed grimly. "When there was nothing else to do but look at stone walls. Let's head for your ranch."

They mounted and rode eastward down the Valley. "Good to be living again," Hal said.

"I'd almost forgotten how it was," Blaise answered.

In a little over an hour they came to another crossroads village. Ahead of them, pushing a huge rock barrier across the Valley, stretched a chain of yellow-rock mountains, bold and forbidding. A huge freight wagon stood before the store, the six horses lazily switching flies. They glanced at the store as they started to ride by, saw no one around the door or the huge wagon. Then suddenly the store door slammed like a pistol shot.

"Blaise!" a roaring bull voice called. "Blaise Randall!"

Blaise twisted around, his hand dropping to his holster. A man had jumped off the store platform and came running to them. Blaise's face lighted.

"Slim Starling!" He vaulted from the saddle as Starling came up. Big, a snowy head, he grasped Blaise's shoulders and shook him. Slim stood a good two inches over six foot, a handsome bear of a man with black, unruly hair and a flaunting hawk nose in a swarthy face.

"You old horse! I knew they couldn't put you away for good! Hey! We got to have a drink for this one!"

Blaise introduced Hal, who winced when the big man shook hands. Slim made a wide gesture.

"This calls for plenty of powder, Blaise. Where were you heading?"

"The old ranch."

"You'll run smack into Leonis and he'll try to trim you to 'se again. Leave him alone, Blaise!"

"I've already run into 'a."

Blaise told of the meeting in Calabasas. Slim shook his head and led the way inside the store.

There was a clear space in the back, room enough for a small table. Slim sat down on a box and told Blaise and Hal to drag up seats. He bought a bottle from the proprietor, opened it and poured into tin cups.

"To the old days—when there was spirit in this part of the country! The old bunch," Slim's lips curled. "I don't think there's much of a man among 'em."

"Paul Case is getting old, the rest have scattered."

"Sure—but what about the others? I was as hard hit as any but I'd stayed right on fighting Leonis if the rest would've stuck."

We was raided a couple of times, but Leonis was finding it too costly to keep it up."

"Was he?"

"Some of his boys was left both times and more carried bullet holes back with 'em. Slim speared a thick finger at Blaise. "That was land open for filing, wasn't it?"

"Yes."

"And all of us filed legal, didn't we?"

"So far as I know."

"Then how could Leonis get away with what he did? I told Paul Case and Mark Davis to take our troubles to the U. S. Marshal, but they wouldn't... leastways Mark said it was no use and the rest didn't argue with him."

"That might have worked," Blaise nodded.

"Leonis gave you a legal bush-whack," Slim continued. "Then I said that we could move into that high Box Canyon among the rocks of the Santa Susanas. You could hold off an army there, and we'd see that none of Leonis's men or cattle roved the Valley range. Mark said that was crazy, and the rest fell in with him. Anyhow, they all moved out. I couldn't fight Leonis alone, so I went along with 'em."

"To Conejo?"

"Me farm! Slim Starling push a plow!" He grinned. "The drought came not long after and nobody run cows any more. I took to freighting. Been doing it ever since, between Gomez Station, Los Angeles, Fillmore and Buenaventa."

"Mark Davis swings a wide loop," Hal said quietly. "Why?"

Slim scratched his chin. "I don't know—never did know. He could talk a badger out of his hole. He was right, he knew it, he told you, and you was a fool otherwise. It'd always make my hackles raise, but I never did nothing about it."

"You left land belonging to you," Hal insisted.

"Sure, but what good was it? How could we get anywhere when half the time we was fighting night riders and the other half we was watching for 'em? That's what Mark said—and he was right. We could get further by just letting Leonis have it. He was right again, for the folks in Conejo have done real well. But I still wanted to stick on."

"That's the way I felt," Blaise said soberly. "And now I want to go back."

Slim twisted around and squinted out the door.

"I'll help you! I'm sort of wasting away in peace and quiet these days."

"But your job—" Blaise started and Slim's roaring laugh checked him.

"When was I ever tied to any job, Blaise? I've got a load for Gomez Station and a return haul to Fillmore. When I finish, I'll saddle a horse and ride over to see how you're coming along. If you need me, I'll stick around. If you don't, I'll be back to Fillmore and freight again."

"You're asking for trouble," Blaise warned. Slim dismissed it with a wave of his hand.

"No more'n you, ranching right next to a man that hates you. I heard a rich jasper from the East has bought up a heap of that mountain land. He don't like neighbors close. You could lock horns with him."

"Who is he? Where's his spread?"

"Up in the hills somewhere close to your old place. I heard his name's Thatcher, but that's all I know."

ABOVE WASHINGTON
ALERT SKEPTICISM best describes the attitude of Pentagon Air Force authorities toward glowing objects that streaked across the skies above Washington on two successive weekends. Jet planes sent aloft to intercept them were unable to make contact.

Yet the Civil Aeronautics Administration's traffic-control center picked up objects on its radar screen. Whether these were material objects or images of ionized clouds or some other immaterial effect Air Force authorities are unable to state. The Air Force doesn't know, but it is investigating.

Both Air Force and commercial aircraft personnel saw unidentifiable lights above the national capital on two occasions. Whether these were stars, meteors, clouds or "saucers" is not evident. The Pentagon has been skeptical of the "saucer" thesis, which rests upon the assumption that these objects are either visitants from another planet or some diabolical demonstration of scientific cleverness on the part of the Soviet Union.

The fact remains that none knows the answer. If the objects are immaterial, such as some effect of light, perhaps no answer will be forthcoming. But if there are real "saucers" in the skies over Washington, and elsewhere throughout the land, the possibilities are staggering.

One thing is certain: something is being seen in the skies. Allowance must be made for the state of mind of the beholders, who are inhabitants of a planet that has survived two wars and, because of the existence of atomic weapons and otherwise, is doubtful about its chance of survival if there is a third war. Perhaps the suspicion and tension in which men dwell upon this earth is being translated to the skies.

Industry heads, pictured often as plutocrats with silk hats and dollar signs on their vests, are nevertheless fighting the battle of American freedom in its original conception.

These Days

So-called liberals reject the right of our government to defend itself against those who oppose its existence, except against armed force. A government is not a mechanical instrument that is brought into existence to serve some necessary social and political functions. It is not a mere expression of majority rule.

Pope Pius XII once put it this way: "The people lives and moves by its own life energy; the masses are inert of themselves and can only be moved from outside. The people lives by the fullness of life in the men that compose it, each of whom—in his proper place and in his own way—is a person conscious of his own responsibility and of his own views."

"The masses, on the contrary, waiting for the impulse from outside, become an easy plaything in the hands of anyone who seeks to exploit their instincts and impressions."

A government represents the traditions, the ideals, the hopes, the aspirations of a people. A proud people seeks to defend itself against every force, every power that aims to destroy it. A proud people never dies. Such small nations as the Jews, the Armenians, the Syrians, the Kashmiri, the Finns do not die, because they have a tradition of life.

All the forces in our land that seek to destroy the character of our nation and our government, that would submerge us into a mass of nations indistinguishable from all others, need to be resisted. In a series of investigations by the House Committee on unAmerican Activities, the McCarran Committee, by grand juries, in trials such as that of Alger Hiss and Harry Bridges, we have begun to discover a design for the perversion of our country not by an outside enemy but by our own children, misguided, misled, frightened by the era of war in which they live.

Another investigative agency has been probing deeply into this problem. It is the "Subversive Activities Control Board," an agency of the executive branch of the government. This agency has been investigating the Communist Party itself and in the course of its inquiry questions were asked of John Gates, a high official of the Communist Party, now imprisoned. The colloquy which follows is of more than casual interest:

"Q. Suppose you Communists were successful and established your system in this country, what measures would you take against those who would destroy your government by force and violence?"

"Marcantonio: I object. Pretty soon he will be asking him the difference between two blades of grass—"

"Chairman Brown: Objection overruled."

"Gates: That can only be established by a majority. The Communist Party would be part of that majority and in the leadership, I hope. Such a government would have every right to defend itself against any attempt to destroy it by force and violence."

Gates is quite correct. If his party came into power, it would naturally defend itself from any attempt to destroy it by force and violence. That is precisely what all the in-

In contrast with Truman's hatred of the press, which helped to make him by its coverage of his Senate investigation of World War II defense operations, no two candidates in recent years have had such excellent relationships with the newspapermen as General Eisenhower and Governor Stevenson. They provided a happy contrast to the puffed-up man in the White House.

The Beginning of the Kingdom

SAMUEL ANOINTED SAUL TO BE FIRST KING OF ISRAEL

Scripture—I Samuel 9-13.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

"Some are born great; some achieve greatness; and some have greatness thrust upon them," wrote William Shakespeare.

As we look about us, we realize how true that saying of the great dramatist is. We recall the men who have achieved greatness after struggle, and those who have had it thrust upon them. How many of these last named have justified their position in the world?

We can think of men like the late Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini, who achieved great power in their countries only to wreck those who trusted them, and came themselves to a tragic end. There have been many others throughout history.

And there was Saul, who truly had greatness thrust upon him, but who, through self-will and disobedience to Jehovah's commands, also came to a sad end. Our lesson today is the story of his rise.

Saul was the son of Kish of the tribe of Benjamin. He was a choice young man, and a goodly; and there was not among the children of Israel a goodlier person than he. From his shoulders and upward he was higher than any of the people.

A fine, tall, strong man is always admired in every age. Kish's asses were lost, so he sent this fine son with a servant to find them. The two wandered through the land, but did not find that which they sought. Finally, Saul suggested that they go home, or his father would be worrying about them.

The servant, however, said that a seer lived in Ramah, and as they were near that city, it would be a good idea to consult him. Saul said it was customary to take a seer a gift and he had none. However, the servant produced a silver coin, so they went to the city and asked for Samuel.

They were told where to find him, and when Samuel saw Saul, Jehovah told him that here was the man he was to make the first king of Israel. Samuel took the men into the house, had them seated at dinner, and gave Saul the choicest of the food.

Samuel told Saul that the two were to stay there that night, and not to worry about the asses because they had been found. In the morning, he would let them go, and tell Saul what "is in thine heart."

Morning came and the three started out, but when they came near the end of the city, Samuel told Saul to send his servant ahead. Then Samuel poured a vial of oil upon Saul's head, kissed him, and told him he did it "because the Lord hath anointed thee to be captain over His inheritance."

Then Samuel told Saul what to expect on his homeward journey, of the men he would meet, what they would all do and say, and that Saul "shall be turned into another man."

It all happened as Samuel had prophesied, and it is too bad that there is not space to relate it all, but it may be read in the Bible. When Samuel had first told Saul of the honor coming to him, he, like Gideon, in a previous lesson, protested that he was of an humble family and a small tribe, so why was he chosen before others?

"And Samuel called the people unto the Lord at Mizpeh. He reminded them again of how Jehovah had saved them from the harsh but mighty Egyptians, and had brought them to a land of plenty, and how they had insisted that they have a king, so, said Samuel, "See ye him whom the Lord hath chosen, that there is none like him among all the people?" And all the people shouted, and said, God save the king."

Samuel told the people the manner of the kingdom and wrote it in a book, and then he sent all the people home, and Saul also returned to Gibeah, "with a band of men whose hearts God had touched."

There were, of course, some "children of Belial" who said, "How shall this man save us? And they despised him, and brought him no presents. But he held his peace." Wise Saul.

Samuel, now that he had given the people a king, made a speech in which he reminded them of his years of work for their good, and ended by giving them a word of hope, saying, "Only fear the Lord, and serve Him in truth with all your heart; for consider how great things He hath done for you."

"But if ye shall still do wickedly, ye shall be consumed, both ye and your king."

After Saul had reigned for one year, the Philistines again mobilized to launch an attack on the Israelites. Saul gathered his people about him, but they had no smiths in the land because the Philistines were afraid to have them make swords or spears. However, every man sharpened his share, and his coulters (a cutter on a plow), and his forks and axes and goads to guide the oxen.

For the account of the battle we must wait for next week's lesson.

According to the boys, your steady-date appeal simmers down to something like this:

A boy likes a girl who is interested in him and in whatever interests him.

You can show your interest in him by listening attentively when he talks, by asking his opinion about things, by complimenting him on things he does well or would like to do well.

One smart girl says it's a good idea, for example, to praise the tennis skill of a boy who shines

Planning a definite place to accommodate each kitchen activity will eliminate much of the confusion that makes work difficult and lengthy. With good planning, some work centers can serve more than one activity. The number of jobs that can be done in one place without confusion depends on the length of time it takes for each job, and when and how often it is done.

"How can I get a boy to like me?" Brief and to the point! That's one of the queries that fills this column's bulging mailbox.

It comes from high school girls—some who are beginning to date, some who wish they were, and some who have dates, but would like to share more of the Saturday-night date plans of a certain boy.

Books have been written on the subject, girls! They begin invariably with advice about keeping clean and neat, dressing attractively as possible, brushing your teeth and using a deodorant d.i.ly.

But you already know that don't you?

Teen Tips

"How can I get a boy to like me?" Brief and to the point! That's one of the queries that fills this column's bulging mailbox.

It comes from high school girls—some who are beginning to date, some who wish they were, and some who have dates, but would like to share more of the Saturday-night date plans of a certain ooy.

Books have been written on the subject, girls! They begin invariably with advice about keeping clean and neat, dressing attractively as possible, brushing your teeth and using a deodorant d.i.ly.

But you already know that don't you? You also know that it's a bright girl who talks enough but not too much, who keeps her date dead-lines by being ready on time and by going home on time. This proves her dependable; boys like that. Everybody does.

According to the boys, your steady-date appeal simmers down to something like this:

A boy likes a girl who is interested in him and in whatever interests him.

You can show your interest in him by listening attentively when he talks, by asking his opinion about things, by complimenting him on things he does well or would like to do well.

One smart girl says it's a good idea, for example, to praise the tennis skill of a boy who shines brightest in the science lab—just as a girl with a big brain loves to be told that she's attractive. In other words, boys, like other people, like to be complimented and encouraged in what they want to accomplish as well as what they know they are ready to do well. See?

Planning a definite place to accommodate each kitchen activity will eliminate much of the confusion that makes work difficult and lengthy. With good planning, some work centers can serve more than one activity. The number of jobs that can be done in one place without confusion depends on the length of time it takes for each job, and when and how often it is done.

2 Parties In Ohio
Detail Attitudes
Toward Red Menace

By REED SMITH
Ohio AP Staff Writer

COLUMBUS, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Republican and Democratic state platforms reflected the difference in party aims for dealing with the Communist menace.

Both agreed on the deadly designs of Russia and her Communist agents on the American people and government. And both abhorred those designs.

The Republican platform included a plank promising active effort to root out Communism at home and cooperation with foes of the Reds abroad. The Democratic platform omitted such a plank.

The Democrats instead dealt with Communism in their platform preamble. They promised to support a unified national effort against Communism and said:

"At the same time we condemn attacks made from behind the shield of legislative immunity upon the character, loyalty and motives of persons who have no effective remedy for defamation from such a source."

ON THE STATE level, that meant the Ohio UnAmerican Activities Commission currently investigating Buckeye Communism at the legislature's behest. Majority Republicans pushed the inquiry through the legislature despite Democratic opposition.

The Republican plank reads: The Communist Party stands for the ultimate violent overthrow of our state and national governments. Communists have infiltrated defense industries in Ohio and their presence constitutes a menace to the internal security of our country.

"We pledge ourselves to do our part in the worldwide struggle of free men against the menace of Communist aggression and infiltration. We also pledge our continued cooperation and support of those state and federal agencies in exposing Communists and defeating their aims."

The state agency is the UnAmerican Activities Commission that so far has cited 11 witnesses for contempt for refusing to say whether they were Communists.

The Democratic platform preamble reads:

"The Democratic Party of the State of Ohio... rededicates itself to relentless and uncompromising opposition to the forces of Communism, and all other unAmerican ideologies.

"We reaffirm our full support of unified national effort against our country's enemies and pledge ourselves to resist to the death the aggressors against peace of the world and the dignity of man."

CONDEMNATION of attacks "from behind the shield of legislative immunity" followed.

Four of the witnesses cited by the commission are under grand jury indictment for contempt of a legislative committee. The cases have been turned over to the Franklin County prosecutor for grand jury action.

Commission counsel said the others, involving instructors at Ohio State University, will go to the prosecutor for similar action.

The commission still plans hear-

SEBASTIAN (CORNEL WILDE), a dashing circus star in Cecil B. DeMille's technicolor production "The Greatest Show On Earth," is shown above just after the accident—a trapeze fall—that ended his career in the story. The movie opens for a seven-night run Friday evening at the Starlight Cruise-In Theater.

Boyle Finds Men's Styles Deep Puzzle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK — (AP)—For years my wife has been telling me:

"Why don't you dress like Cary Grant? He looks like he had been poured into his suits. You just kind of overflow yours."

Well, Grant came to town the other day, so I plodded up to his hotel to find out how to be well-dressed.

When Grant opened the door it looked fairly easy to dress like him.

All he had on was a big bath towel, and one man wears a bath towel pretty much like another.

The film actor explained he was dressed for the heat wave. "It is an odd thing that New Yorkers, in all these years, haven't found a way to dress to cope with the humidity," he mused. "The Cubans have arrived at a thing—a pleated shirt worn outside the pants. It looks rather well."

When I explained my mission, Grant looked slightly depressed. "Why don't you ask me something profound?" he said. "I have not the slightest idea how I get on those best-dressed men lists."

Pressed to give his sartorial views, Grant gave thusly:

"They say that an interest in clothing is a sign of insecurity, and perhaps I had a feeling of insecurity in my youth."

"But I really feel that we owe it to our fellow man to look well. Clothes do affect people's manners. That is why the British dress formally even in the tropics. It keeps up their morale."

"However, I don't think that dignity of carriage should depend on, or go hand in hand with, dis-ings in Cincinnati and Cleveland. Witnesses sought for the hearings disappeared before they could be subpoenaed. Other hearings may be held in Akron, Youngstown and other industrial centers.

comfort. Good clothes should be comfortable as well as dressy."

Grant carries his own theory of comfort so far that he rarely wears a belt and never wears suspenders, garters or under-shirts.

He was rather hard to pin down on what actually makes a well-dressed man.

"To look well-dressed you simply have to have a well-dressed look. I don't know myself what looks well and what doesn't."

"Perhaps the most noticeable thing about a man are his collar and tie—and a hat if he wears one. I look like hell in hats though."

"A shined pair of shoes is essential—if you can afford it. The wrong shoes can ruin a man. I have my shoes sent over from England. They cost $43, and they are far better than a $135 pair here."

That rather shook me. I didn't think even a pair of George Washington's old shoes would bring $135 today.

I asked Grant if he believed a wife should pick her husband's clothes.

"Some wives should," he said.

"But my wife doesn't. She doesn't even pick her own—she wears blue jeans and a shirt. I select a dress for her now and then."

Just then a haberdasher came in and after a brief consultation with him Grant ordered a couple of dozen homemade—I mean custom made—shirts.

After that I left, feeling rather depressed about the whole problem of being well-dressed.

Par Taking Beating In Tam Bonanza

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—(P)—Tam O'Shanter Country Club was ready to post this notice Friday: "Wanted—the murderers of par."

Seldom has a golf course been so thoroughly sandbagged by a bunch of money hounds as this gaily-decorated carnival grounds.

Promoter George S. May, acting like the goose that laid the golden egg, turned it into a race track by offering a $90,000 purse distribution for a world championship tournament.

The winner will collect $25,000, second place is worth $12,500, third $5,000 and so on down the list of $200 for 41st position.

Wild-eyed pros, some of whom have grown lean eating hamburgers on the gruelling tourney grind to make ends meet, set out for the bonanza in Thursday's first round.

As expected, par 36-36—72 wasn't worth a plugged nickel. Twenty-eight, or 35 per cent of the field of 80, shattered these figures.

Breaking into the lead was a pair of club pros, Lew Worsham and Pete Cooper, each with 65.

They were followed by another player who gave up the tournament ordeal to stick mainly to teaching, Harry Todd, and a South American, Roberto de Vincenzo.

Baseball Tourney Enters Semifinals

COLUMBUS, Aug. 8.—(P)—Undeclared Cincinnati takes on once-beaten Akron here Friday in the semifinals of the American Legion junior baseball tournament.

Portsmouth, only other team remaining in the double-elimination tournament, drew a bye. If Cincinnati wins Friday and defeats Portsmouth Saturday morning, the tournament will be over. But if Portsmouth should beat Cincinnati Saturday morning, another game will be scheduled.

Detroit Speedster Sets Fast Pace

SEATTLE, Aug. 8.—(P)—For the second year in a row Miss Pepsi, the twin engine speedster from Detroit, shattered the qualifying record as all six entrants got safely under the wire Thursday for Saturday's 45th running of the Gold Cup speedboat race.

Chuck Thompson jammed the 10,500-pound monster around three laps of the three-mile Lake Washington course at an average speed of 103.448 miles per hour, shattering the mark of 102.562 set only Monday by the Gold Cup champion, Slo-Mo-Shunu V.

District Softball Results Reported

SPRINGFIELD, Aug. 8.—(P)—Here are Thursday's results of the District Four softball tournament here:

Women's division finals—Dean's All-Stars of Middletown 4, White Clover Dairy of Dayton 2; both teams to state tournament here Aug. 15.

Men's division—loser's bracket: Dayton Burger Beer 2, Sabina VFW 1.

Par Taking Beating In Tam Bonanza

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Tam O'Shanter Country Club was ready to post this notice Friday: "Wanted—the murderers of par."

Seldom has a golf course been so thoroughly sandbagged by a bunch of money hounds as this gaily-decorated carnival grounds.

Promoter George S. May, acting like the goose that laid the golden egg, turned it into a race track by offering a $90,000 purse distribution for a world championship tournament.

The winner will collect $25,000, second place is worth $12,500, third $5,000 and so on down the list of $200 for 41st position.

Wild-eyed pros, some of whom have grown lean eating hamburgers on the gruelling tourney grind to make ends meet, set out for the bonanza in Thursday's first round.

As expected, par 36-36—72 wasn't worth a plugged nickel. Twenty-eight, or 35 per cent of the field of 80, shattered these figures.

Breaking into the lead was a pair of club pros, Lew Worsham and Pete Cooper, each with 65.

They were followed by another player who gave up the tournament ordeal to stick mainly to teaching, Harry Todd, and a South American, Roberto de Vincenzo.

Baseball Tourney Enters Semifinals

COLUMBUS, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Unde-feated Cincinnati takes on once-beaten Akron here Friday in the semifinals of the American Legion junior baseball tournament.

Portsmouth, only other team remaining in the double-elimination tournament, drew a bye. If Cincinnati wins Friday and defeats Portsmouth Saturday morning, the tournament will be over. But if Portsmouth should beat Cincinnati Saturday morning, another game will be scheduled.

Dodgers, Giants Press Feud As Cards, Phillies Rush On

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Eddie Stanky, the brash freshman, and Steven O'Neill, the old graybeard, are turning the National League into a four-club race while Brooklyn and New York trade punches in a private neighborhood brawl.

Preoccupied in their personal feud, the Dodgers and Giants seem to pay little attention to the onrushing Cards and Phillies.

St. Louis, closing ground in huge chunks under Stanky's skillful piloting, are making the most of their big chance. While the Dodgers, Giants and Phils bicker among themselves for the next 10 days, they feast on Cincinnati, Pittsburgh and Chicago.

The Cards closed to within 8 1/2 games of the Dodgers Thursday by whipping Cincinnati, 7-4, as Brooklyn rebounded from an afternoon 8-2 defeat to top New York in the night half of their day-night double header, 7-5.

Philadelphia, winning 28 of 40 starts since O'Neill replaced Eddie Sawyer as manager, swept a pair from the Boston Braves, 2-1 and 10-2 behind Robin Roberts and Russ Meyer Roberts' three-hitter was his 17th victory.

Nobody gained anything in the American, except the seventh-place Browns who are too far back to make any difference. The leading New York Yankees

Top Hat No. 1 Winner Over Moonlight Auto

Top Hat No. 1, last year's winner, continued on the title trail in the 1952 district softball tournament Thursday night, defeating Moonlight Auto, 6 to 1.

Top Hat got off to a one-run lead in the first and sewed up the situation in the third with a trio of tallies. Two of the three romped home when Center Fielder Lloyd Minor hit a homer with Right Fielder Bob Tracy on base. Tracy had just moved around on a triple before Minor socked his round-the-circuit blast.

Tracy with three out of four chances at the plate and Minor, with two-for-four, led the Top Hat assault on Bartlett, hurling for the losers.

Morrison pitched sparkling ball for Top Hat, fanning seven and holding Moonlight to four hits. He was taken out of the game in the bottom of the sixth however, when struck in the face by a foul from his own bat. He suffered a cut lip.

REID TOOK up the slinging burden for the Hat team and struck out two of the last three Moonlight batsmen in the first of the seventh.

Top Hat's seven bingles, in addition to the Tracy-Minor total, were doubles by H. Gulick and Moon.

The J. H. Butt team plays Chillicothe Business Men Friday night. Sunday, Top Hat No. 1 battles Portsmouth.

investigative agencies, public and private, are doing now; they are defending the right of their nation and government to exist.

There are some who deny to citizens the right to organize to safeguard their country. They say that that is an exclusive function of the government. Is it possible to believe that citizens may organize to destroy their country but that none may organize to defend their country? The right of our people to organize is inviolable and that right becomes a virtue when its object is to preserve our traditional forms of life.

Gates was asked whether he could give one instance in which the Daily Worker, of which he was editor, supported this government in opposition to the Soviet Union.

President Chides U.S. Non-Voters

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—President Truman, in a get-out-the-vote appeal, said Thursday when it comes to exercising the privilege of voting, "many other countries put us to shame."

He also said, in a statement issued at his news conference, that present-day Americans are staying away from the polls far more than their fathers did.

people, and that is our sole standard."

This one answer explains everything. He denies the validity of all that his own government has said on this subject and accepts as gospel truth all that Soviet Russia has said on the subject.

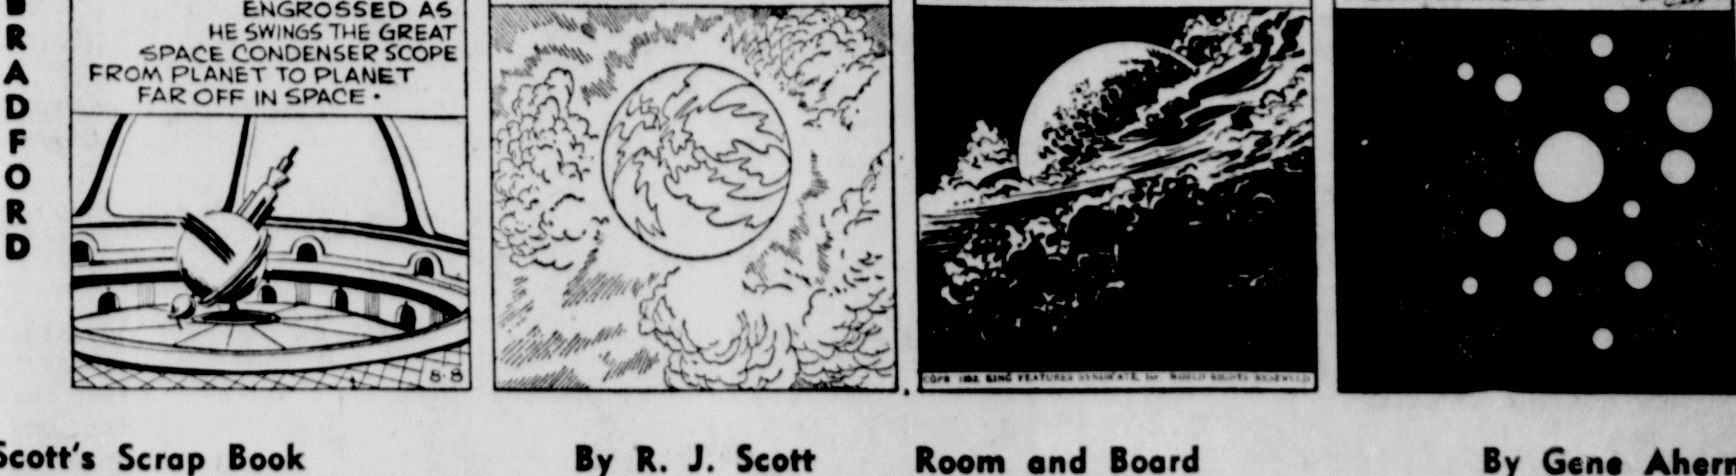

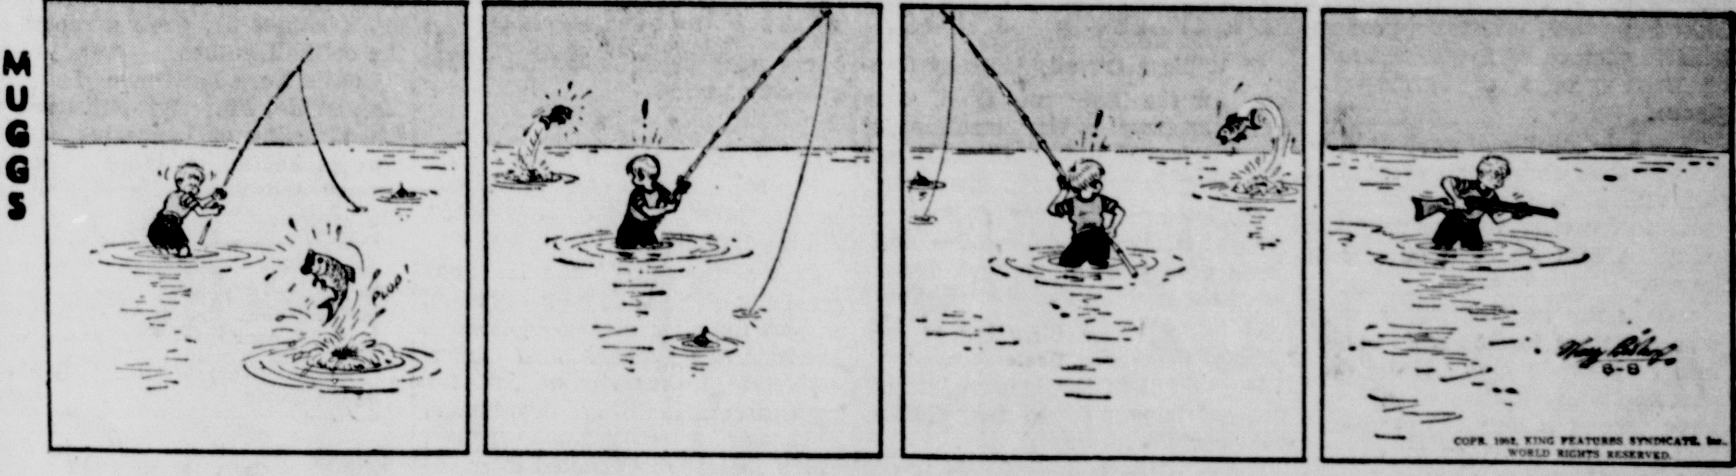

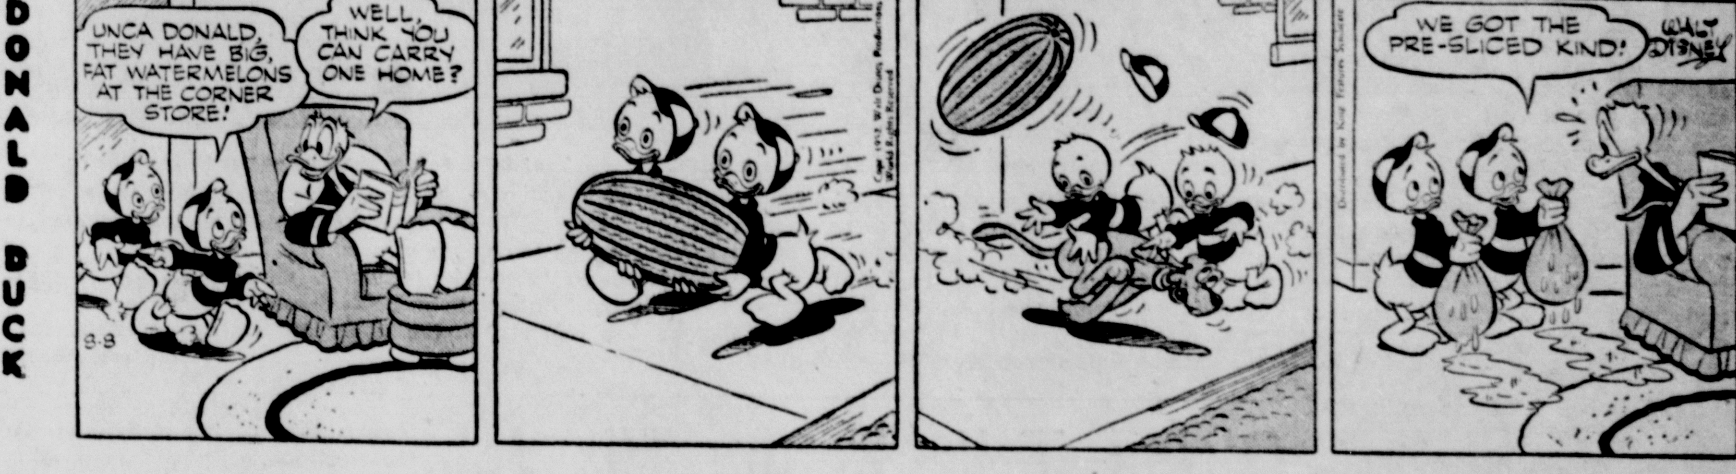

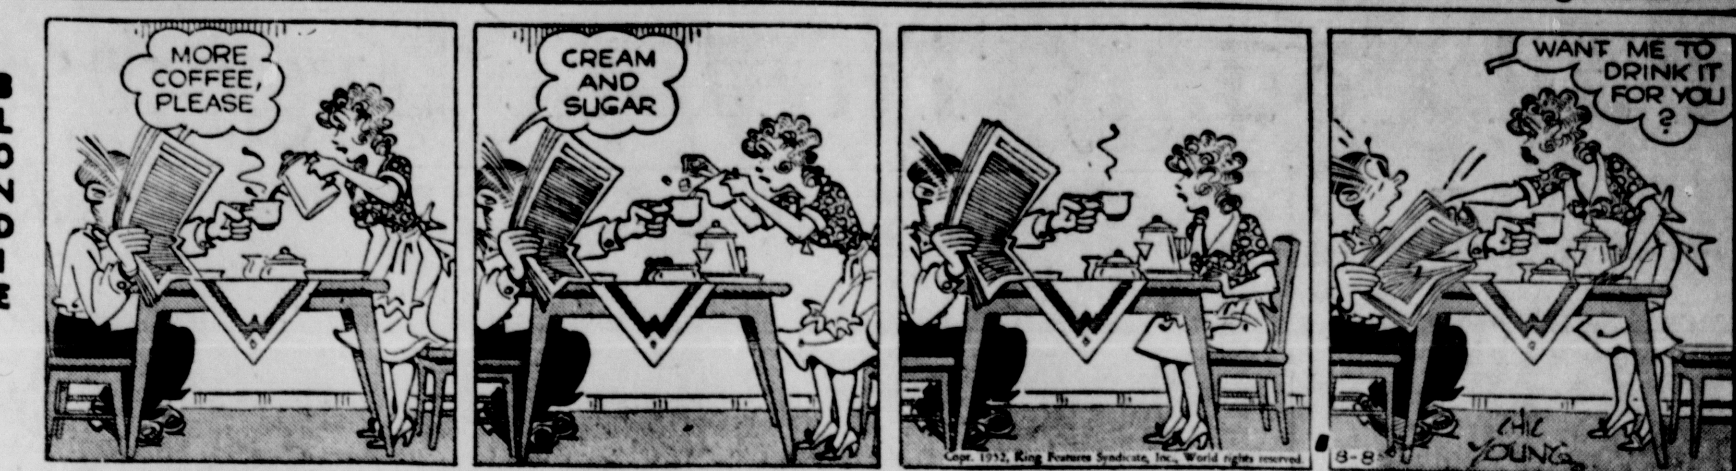

The liberals stand between the patriots and those enslaved to a foreign foe. They try to see both sides with a frigid objectivity. Yet, unless they fervently believe in America, they are strengthening its enemies. The middle-of-the-roads pave the way for those who plan America's destruction.

President Chides U.S. Non-Voters

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—(AP)—President Truman, in a get-out-the-vote appeal, said Thursday when it comes to exercising the privilege of voting, "many other countries put us to shame."

He also said, in a statement issued at his news conference, that present-day Americans are staying away from the polls far more than their fathers did.

This one answer explains everything. He denies the validity of all that his own government has said on this subject and accepts as gospel truth all that Soviet Russia has said on the subject.

The liberals stand between the patriots and those enslaved to a foreign foe. They try to see both sides with a frigid objectivity. Yet, unless they fervently believe in America, they are strengthening its enemies. The middle-of-the-roads pave the way for those who plan America's destruction.

Gates was asked whether he could give one instance in which the Daily Worker, of which he was editor, supported this government in opposition to the Soviet Union.

"A. I can't think of any such instance because in my opinion the Soviet Union has never put forward policies in any way contrary to the interests of the American people, and that is our sole standard."

There are some who deny to citizens the right to organize to safeguard their country. They say that that is an exclusive function of the government. It is possible to believe that citizens may organize to destroy their country but that none may organize to defend their country? The right of our people to organize is inviolable and that right becomes a virtue when its object is to preserve our traditional forms of life.

Full County Turnout Urged For Annual Air Tour Thursday

Archer Tells Reason For Aerial Survey

Half Hour's Flying Will Match 100 Miles By Auto

Don Archer of the district soil conservation service Friday urged full participation in Pickaway County's annual Air Tour, scheduled Aug. 14.

Several special planes will be available at Thomas Airport that day to offer Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Public and their children a birds-eye view of farmland in the southeastern section of the county. A nominal charge will be made for the flights, with a special price for children.

The Air Tour is an established event directed by the conservation service here to enable district residents to become familiar with the methods of soil conservation and the work yet needed to protect future crops.

Early reports on plans for the flights next Thursday indicated a record turnout, many persons intending to take advantage of the opportunity to have their first ride in an airplane.

STRESSING THE advantage of aerial observations in the cause of soil conservation, Archer said:

"The airplane is being used for this survey for several reasons. Most important, it offers a comprehensive picture of a whole farm—or even groups of farms—at a glance.

"The relationship of each field to the complete farm, and of several farms to a locality, and of this group to the watershed or drainage area can best be seen only from the air.

"Since the land of this region was cut from forest and made into crop producing fields, the overwhelming majority of us have viewed it only in profile. The Air Tour provides an excellent opportunity to appreciate its majestic horizons and rich panorama.

"But more important is the main purpose of the carefully planned and supervised flights. The nitrogen deficiency problems, along with those arising from drainage difficulties and incorrect land practices, are clearly visible from the plane."

The air route mapped for the day is approximately 48 air miles in length—and over a section in which a car would have to travel about 100 miles of highway. The regular Air Tour flight will take only 30 minutes.

THE PICKAWAY Soil Conservation district is now in its seventh year. At present, nearly 315 farms totaling 47,500 acres are cooperating with representatives of the organization to bring the benefits of conservation to the region.

Pointing out how the county has two distinct problems in this respect, Archer said:

"The flat land of the major portion has peculiar problems of drainage, proper rotations and agronomic practice. The balance of the county, with its rolling and steep lands, presents the problem of erosion control, along with good farming practice."

Archer stressed that although the Air Tour provides a chance for those who have yet to view the district from the air, its chief purpose is aimed at the protection of the local farmlands themselves.

"It is hoped it will accomplish a lasting purpose," he said, "by giving Pickaway countians a new look at this land on which we live—one in which they will see not only its beauty but also its vital relationship to our economic future."

Scott at Fort Belvoir, Va., where he creates them with an 18-inch vacuum bell jar and ionized air. He pumps air out of the jar, making the inside as rarefied as the upper atmosphere, then pumps in ionized (electrified) air molecules. This static electricity produces "saucers" in white, violet and orange hues, which leap around the jar at terrific speed when subjected to magnetism. Scott doesn't claim this solves the saucer mystery, just that what happens in the jar also happens in the upper air and is an explanation for various lights seen from the ground. (International)

O'Neil Tells Rotary His Job Touches Near All Ohioans

C. William O'Neil, Attorney General for the State of Ohio, was guest speaker at the meeting of the Circleville Rotary Club, Thursday noon in the Elk's Home.

O'Neil spoke of the duties of the attorney general's office and said most people do not know that the functions of that particular office touch the lives of almost everyone.

He said it is the largest law office in Ohio and has for clients, nearly eight million people.

He said the largest client is the Industrial Commission, and in 1951 his office participated in over 6,000 hearings for the commission alone.

O'Neil added that the most difficult department to represent was the liquor department because of the method in which the cases were handled. He said that since his term in office, he had inaugurated a policy under which all violators were brought to trial within a 30-day period.

HE SAID one of his most difficult jobs, which is equally difficult for any public official, is selection of his personnel.

Part of the job of the attorney general's office is to be lawyer and adviser for all professional boards. The attorney general also represents the utilities commission, tax department, highway department and runs a collection agency, which last year collected over $3 million from people who owed the state taxes or in claims.

In addition to all those duties, it is a duty of the office to answer questions from all the prosecutors in the 88 counties of Ohio.

O'Neil said the opinion of the attorney general's office is law until reversed by a court. He concluded by talking of the importance of the individual vote in elections.
